Changes to the vertical structure of CO on Mars are also seen as a result of the assimilation of MCS temperature profiles altering the condensation/sublimation of CO2 (Figure 7).

These results will be used as validation for future CO vertical profiles taken by the ExoMars Trace Gas Orbiter (11,12).